

Don't Buy Any Male Enhancement Products Until You Read This!

4 Common Mistakes People Made When They Buy Herbal Sex Pills

Buying a male sexual enhancer supplement is not like buying a vitamin C pill.

In fact, it can be a very challenging and frustrating task.

Mistake #1: Believing In The Claims

Manufacturer Claims

Many manufacturers would like you to believe that their products works 100% for everyone. They will also claim that their product can do it all...make you bigger, get you harder, delay your ejaculation, and even grow hair (just kidding)!

But that's impossible. No sex pills (nor any other pills for that matter) will work for everyone - everytime. Nor can one formula best accomplish all the different objectives men have when looking for herbal solutions to improving their sex lives.

Physiologically, we're all different and we have our own sets of health challenges. Just because a pill works for a couple of your friends doesn't always mean that it will work for you too, although the better formulas do tend to work for the majority of men.

The truth of the matter is that no one product is the "best" at everything. Harder erections, better sexual stamina, improvement in appearance/size, all these goals sometimes require different formulations.

You need to know what you are looking for.

Believe me, this is one heck of a 'dirty' business. And YOU, the unsuspecting customer, are the ultimate guinea pig. I am not saying that great products do not exist. They do, but you have to look very hard to find them.

You probably have already spent a few hundred dollars on worthless crap because of bogus reviews and false advertising claims.

Bogus Review Sites

Dozens of bogus review sites with using phrases like "mens choice" or "man tested" are operated by the sellers of the brand they recommend... surprise surprise!

Many of the products they claim to have "tested" or "reviewed" do not even exist!

Beware of the following Review Sites...

Over the years of observing herbal sex products online we also ran a couple test. We would make up a product name, complete with a promotional page. We would put that page up on the Internet and sure enough after a couple weeks or months the bogus review site staff would discover the page!

This "new" product would then get added to their review page!

Their "review" would used canned lines about the various ingredients found in the "new" product... what they like or dislike about the product... even critique what they thought about the website. They would then go on to "rate" the product and stick it on their list. Without even really trying the non-existent product for themselves.

Can you believe it?

Other review sites simply list products based on the level of commission they make from the sale of that product. They will typically offer 5-10 different brands.

The more money they can make from the sale.. the higher it places in their ratings!

Of course, if you buy any of the ones included in their "ratings" they make a commission... so they really do not care which you buy as long as you buy it through them.

Of course if a product/formula is available for direct sale only (no commission paid on sales) you will never see it being recommended by any of these sites. Even if it is a clearly superior product.

So do not expect to find the "best" products on any of these types of sites. Do not get us wrong... some of the products promoted by the bogus review sites are actually good products, but this promotion method is a bit dishonest and misleading.

Fact is, you will not find a single unbiased comparison or review site using the Internet Search Engines. Here is what you need to know...

These sites are PAID advertisers who have only one goal in mind... sell you THEIR product. They are not going to pay money to Google or Yahoo to provide you with free advice. Think about it.

But now, since you are reading this report, you are unlikely to make the same mistakes that most men make by falling for the tricks used by many male herbal supplement promoters.

Mistake #2: Not Knowing What You Want

Before you make a purchase, be aware of your health conditions and of course understand what it is you are trying to achieve. The type of supplements that you buy will ultimately depend on your present health condition and goals. There are basically 3 types of herbal male enhancement / sex pills commonly available:

- 1) Fast-acting erection stimulants
- 2) Slow-acting libido/sexual health supplements
- 3) Male enlargement supplements

The challenge is that most brands will try to convince you that their product will provide all the benefits associated with each of these three different categories. The result is that many customer will not be happy with their purchase because the product they buy is not the one that can best meet their specific objective.

To assure that you do not waste your time or money, you first need to identify the benefit you wish to receive from your male sexual supplement.

Fast-acting erection stimulants

Fast-acting stimulants act like ED drugs, in that they can give you a reaction within 1 - 2 hour. They "stimulate" the system providing a "jump start" to get things going fast.

If you want to obtain a harder erection faster... then a fast acting stimulant is what you want.

However, before you go out and purchase a fast-acting stimulant there is an important question that you need to ask yourself: "Can I get an erection now without any erection aid?"

If you can - even though a weak one - it shows that there is sufficient blood flow into your penis. In this case, there is a good chance all you need is just to boost your blood flow.

Therefore, fast acting sex pills like Hard Rod Plus (<http://www.hardrodplus.com>) will work very well for you.

On the other hand, if you can't 'get it up' at all, this could suggest an extremely poor circulation in the groin area, damage to blood vessels and/or nerves.

The chances of a fast acting stimulant having a positive effect on you alone is low. If it is a matter of extremely poor genital and/or penile tissue circulation than perhaps a sexual health supplement can offer improvements over time. If there is actual damage to the blood vessels, no miracle pill can help you if there's a leak in the 'plumbing system'.

Consult your doctor for other treatments if you suspect that you have damages to nerves and blood vessels.

Because they are fast-acting, the ingredients typically are more concentrated and are higher in cost. Expect to pay about US$30 to $40 or more for a pack of 10 fast acting erection pills.

Fast-acting pills usually produce some side effects in about 10% of the users, ranging from headaches, indigestion and nasal congestion. But the majority of users do not experience any side effects.

Fast-acting pills should only be taken by those who are healthy or reasonably healthy. Those with serious medical problems like heart problem, high blood pressure, or cancer should consult their doctors before taking fast-acting pills.

Fast Acting Pill Is Not Everyone...

In fact, if you are under any form of medical care you should consult with your doctor before taking any kind of herbal supplement. If you have heart or blood pressure issues you may want to avoid the fast acting sexual stimulants all together.

Hard Rod Plus (<http://www.hardrodplus.com>) has been proven to work extremely well for healthy males, as well as for those who have cholesterol, diabetes and other less serious health issues without any intolerable side effects that you get with other pills. But it is important to take into consideration your own situation.

Because you typically only take fast acting stimulants "as needed" you do not typically receive the same longer term benefits you may receive with the sexual health supplements. But you can experience results much faster!

Also, if you only have sex once or twice a week that 10 capsule pack can last a whole month... so do not get hung-up on the fact that you are only getting 10 capsules compared to the 30-90 capsules you may get in a one month supply of a slow acting daily supplement.

Slow-acting libido/sexual health supplements

The sexual health supplements, on the other hand, are more like vitamins. They do not give you immediate impact but you will see visible results, typically within a few weeks to a few months, with regular use.

The good news is that because you take the slow acting supplements daily they tend to offer more long term benefits than fast acting stimulants. The slower-acting sexual health pills are more suitable for those looking to improve their overall sexual health.

The sexual health pills can help improve overall sexual health which will, over time, improve sexual performance and stamina. As your overall sexual health improves so will your ability to easily obtain an erection and the quality of those erections.

These supplements are formulated to provide long term results.

Popular brands like Zenerx and Orexis are heavily promoted. Even showing up as a "Top Picks" in several review sites. Other "factory direct" brands like Rigirx (<http://www.rigirx.com>) are hardly promoted at all.

Rigirx (<http://www.rigirx.com>) is a high quality sexual health pill offer a higher potency concentration then you will find in most other brands. Designed to be taken daily for long term benefits but has also been formulated with ingredients known to provide more immediate results.

This relatively unknown one-a-day sexual enhancement supplement represents a real value. You get a lot of bang for your buck. Since they spend very little money in advertising and they do not offer sales commission to Internet marketers they can pass the cost saving on directly to you!

Male enlargement supplements

Many of the slow-acting supplement are also marketed as "male enhancement" supplements promoting increased size or "enlargement "of your penis. In many cases these products will indeed improve your non-erect size in addition to offering erection support over an extended period of time.

When you think of male enhancement supplements you likely think of brands like Enzyte. A mass marketed product that is heavily promoted on TV in addition to the Internet.

Of course the "enlargement" being referred to is a result of improved circulation in the penile tissue that may occur with ongoing use of many of the slow-acting supplements. But you would not know that from reading some of the promotional hype for these products or watching the Enzyte commercials.

The number of enlargement supplements being promoted online by Internet marketers is mind boggling!

Brands like ProSolution Pills and VigRX Plus are high quality products, these products are among the most popular enlargement products in the world!

Click this link to visit <http://www.maleproductsguide.com> for a detailed review of top 3 penis enlargement products you must know

But what many consumers of these brands and others do not know is that there is a way where THEY can save significant amount of money and still get the benefits they are looking for...

You can save over 60%!

Here is a secret... most men would pay more for "enlargement pills" than they would for supplements marketed to improve their sexual health. So products marketed as "enlargement pills" typically are priced much higher than supplements marketed for sexual health/stamina products... even if the ingredients are identical!

You can save a lot of money knowing this and comparing products based on ingredients and not presentation!

If you want a male supplement that can improve your sexual stamina and potentially improved your size over time you should take a closer look at Rigirx (<http://www.rigirx.com>).

Go ahead... compare the price and ingredients of one month for Rigirx (<http://www.rigirx.com>) with any of those other "enlargement" supplements and we think you will see what we mean.

Getting Bigger Instantly?

As noted above, almost any high quality one-a-day male enhancement product can...over time... produce a full healthier looking penis. Some products like ProSolution Pills and VigRX Plus are specifically formulated with enlargement as the goal and may offer results faster than most...

But what if you do not want to wait weeks or months?

If enhancing the appearance your non-erect size FAST is your primary objective there is only one formula that we are aware of that is specifically formulated as a fast acting penis enlarger and that is the Vimax.

Click this link to visit <http://www.maleproductsguide.com> for a detailed review of top 3 penis enlargement products you must know

While the manufacturer makes no claims that the pill will result in any permanent enlargement... the pill is formulated to dramatically increase blood flow to a non-erect penis within an hour or two of consumption resulting in a larger and fuller looking penis instantly!

While the "growth" is not suggested to be permanent, the effects of the Vimax can last for 2-3 days during which time your non-erect penis size will be larger than normal allowing you to have your "Smiling Bob" moments without needing to wait weeks or months!

Over time, the increase in daily blood flow may create a more permanent increase in size... although the manufacturer does not make such claims.

As an added bonus many GBI Pill users report being able to get erections much easier during the 2-3 day period that the GBI Pill ingredients remain active. And those erections tend to be harder than usual!

If you are looking to make a good first impression and believe that Size Matters... this formula can help!

Mistake #3: Well-known Brands Must Be Effective

Wrong!

A well-advertised, well-established brand simply means that the company behind the brand has more money to spend on advertising and PR campaigns. It has nothing to do with the effectiveness of the product.

Smiling Bob does not work for free... such campaigns cost big money. Money which needs to be recaptured when pricing the product for sale to the consumer.

If you actually take the time to compare ingredients with these mass marketed brands with lesser know brands such as Rigirx you will usually find the lesser known brands offer a better value. That is, they offer more and better ingredients at a price lower than the mass marketed brand.

Again, do not be fooled by bogus review sites that will always show the "house brand" as the "readers choice" or "top rated" choice. Make you own comparisons.

The reason for the price difference is simple... mass marketed brands have to charge a large premium on top of the underlying value of their product to cover their massive advertising budgets. The lesser known brands do not have these cost and can pass the saving on to you the consumer.

Such brands sell a lot because of greater awareness but if the product does not work, there will not be any repeat purchase. Many brands that are highly visible on TV, radio and print also tend to use "autoship" programs where customers are automatically billed and sent another order each month.

These companies know that most consumers would not re-order the product on their own at these higher prices based on performance alone. They also know that many customers put off canceling such arrangements for several months. Autoship program equal more profits for them.

NOTE: If you ever see a FREE Sample offering online you can be sure by requesting the sample you will be signing up for a monthly billing!

As a general rule we would avoid all such offerings. Of course you could tell yourself that you will immediately cancel such arrangements, but companies that use this marketing tactic often send followup mailers, add your name to a mailing list, etc etc. It usually is not worth the "free" trial.

Our favorite brands, like Rigirx, are not heavily advertised yet still amassed a strong following due to the efficacy of the product. They will never automatically send you another order... quite frankly they know you will re-order on your own!

Sometime offering real results is more valuable than investing a large sum of money in elaborate webpages or infomercials!

Mistake #4: Believing Too Much In Overused Ingredients

Go into Google and type in "Sexual Enhancement". You will find no less than 100-200 brands along with all those bogus review sites.

If you examine the ingredients of these brands closely, you will see that most of them use the same, old time-tested ingredients like Maca, Horny Goat Weed, Tongkat Ali, L-Arginine, Tribulus Terrestris, etc

Do they work? Are these ingredients really as effective as their supporters would like you to believe?

The short answer is NO. At least not in the quantities supplied in most male supplements.

Typically these ingredients need to be taken in much larger servings levels than you will find in any mass marketed brands to have any real benefits. Most of the "popular" products simply try to pack in as many different ingredients in small quantities to create an impressive ingredient label... without regards to the fact that none of the ingredients they use are provided in sufficient levels to offer any real benefits.

Do not be fooled by an impressive ingredient list, be sure to take a look at the quantity and the actual potency of the ingredients used.

Many of the most popular brands promoting a single key ingredient use weak and ineffective leaf and root materials. They look to take advantage of the popularity of a particular ingredients but fail to offer sufficient quantity or quality to produce results.

Getting Real Results

You should look for your favorite ingredient being offered in a "power packs"... that is packages combining large quantities of high potency ingredients like Maca, L-Arginine, Horny Goat Weeds, Tongkat Ali, or Tribulus, along with additional ingredients to maximize benefits and obtain a specific nutritional goal such as libido boosting, or enhanced testosterone production.

For specific nutritional goals or benefits associated specifically with any one of these ingredients, such "power packs" may be worth considering... but if you are looking for a fast-acting erection formula, none of the above individual ingredients alone will do much for you.

Unique Ingredients = Unique results

It is easy to design the formula for a slow-acting pill using many of the common ingredients noted above because immediate results are not required nor expected. But when you need something to give you an additional boost in minutes, very few formulas have the ability to do that.

If you were to look at the ingredients list of Hot Rod For Men, you will understand what I'm saying.

Most of these ingredients are unique, and some have not even been used before in sex pills - even though they work better than the "standard" ingredients most commonly used.!

Take Polyrachis Vicinia, or Ants, for instance. This is a renowned 'herbs of kings' that have a long history in China. It is often used as key ingredients in many health products in Asia but is virtually unknown in the western world.

That's a pity because Ants have the highest zinc contents among all living organisms and you know how important zinc is in the manufacture of the sex hormone, testosterone.

Same goes for Butea Superba. The pride and joy of Thailand, this herb has been clinically tested and proven to work exactly like Viagra and Cialis, minus the side effects. But again, it is not as commonly used in sex pills as Horny Goat Weed or Ginseng.

And very few herbalists know how to maximize the testosterone-enhancing effect from the awesome combination of Butea Superba, Tongkat Ali and Tribulus Terristris, like what they did with Hot Rod For Men.

To read more about these rare but extremely potent ingredients, please visit the Rigirx website now.
